Johnny, a young boy, and his father find themselves thrust into this world of espionage and technology that stretch their imaginations to the limit. Johnny meets Tinker, one of the ten children, and together they forge ahead in the hope of survival. Unknown to anyone, Oscar has created a subprogram within the virus, the Oz Immortality Sequence. # MiraLucian LLC announces the release of Tapestry by Solitaire Parke

Tapestry is a vivid sojourn inside the mind of the poet.

His inspirations, hopes and fears come to life through a series of interlacing poems which depict his life and careers, his loves and disappointments, and his successes.

Great to ponder in the wee hours of any long and lonely night.

“This author's work has been likened to Edgar Allen Poe and William Shakespeare, and I can see why. Classics are read to this day for a reason, and I wouldn't be surprised to someday see this book listed with the great minds of the past. This is destined to be a classic as well. I gave this 5 stars, and it earned every one of them.” - Kay Glass.

MiraLucian LLC announces the release of The Atrium by Solitaire Parke

After a horrific car crash on his way to a celebration, a man finds himself trapped within an atrium that is lined with a series of framed pictures.

He soon discovers that there is no choice but to relive a sequence of traumatic events that have shaped his life up to that point.

He is faced with the confrontation of self, undisputedly the hardest issue a human being can forcibly encounter.

The Atrium causes him to examine and confront his own inner turmoil, leading to a discovery of both morals and motives and their application in each situation, casting an entirely different light on the treatment of those around him. There is a realization that we have the capacity for change and the ability to create an existence filled with compassion and purpose beyond self.

He struggles with life and death decisions that could determine his future on earth or in the great beyond.
